

Child Care Thailand

Donation certificate

In Thailand lots of children do not get sufficient schooling for a number of reasons. Many of these children have experienced being abandoned by their parents and handed over to relatives or another family, who does not have economic means to let them go to school. It is, however, very important that these children do complete schooling in order for them to be able to provide for themselves as adults. Without proper education they will be at risk for abuse and exploitation in different forms. Such experiences often lead to lifelong suffering.

Child Care Thailand helps these children to be able to complete primary and secondary school. Depending on their achievements and interest after secondary school, CCT will be able to contribute to their further education. Education is their key to the future!
